The Religious Telescope.

DAVTON, OHIO, JULY 14, 1869.

VOLUME XXXV, NO. 46

WHOLE NUMBER 1521

NOW WE SEE THROUGH A GLASS, DARKLY; BUT THEY FEAR TO FACE.

Rev. Milton Whetstone, M.E.

THE RELIGIOUS TELESCOPE.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY, AT $6.50 PER ANNUM. SUBSCRIPTIONS COMMENCED AT THE BEGINNING OF EACH QUARTER.

UNITED STATES AND CANADA.

THE PROPHET AND THE SCIENTIFIC STATE.

We learn that the chief of the scientific state, having just completed his tour of inspection, has stated that the principal object of his visit was to learn the effect of the new battleship, and to form an opinion as to the possibility of the establishment of a naval fleet for the protection of the country. He said that he had been greatly impressed with the solidity and power of the ship, and that he was confident that the country would be able to maintain its position in the ocean as long as it had this ship. He also stated that he had been impressed by the fact that the ship was well armed, and that it was capable of withstanding the most powerful attack. He said that he was satisfied that the country would be able to maintain its position in the ocean as long as it had this ship. He also stated that he had been impressed by the fact that the ship was well armed, and that it was capable of withstanding the most powerful attack.

THE AUSTRALIAN MISSION.

The Australian mission has been in operation for some time, and is making good progress. The missionaries have been well received, and are doing good work. They are doing much to improve the condition of the people, and to spread the gospel among them. We are glad to hear that the mission is making good progress, and that the missionaries are doing good work.

THE LAW OF ATTRACTION.

The law of attraction is a principle that is well recognized by the scientific community. It states that all things are attracted to those that think and feel in a similar manner. This principle is well illustrated in the case of magnets, which attract each other because they have opposite poles. The law of attraction is also evident in the case of the planets, which are attracted to each other by their mutual gravitational forces. The law of attraction is a fundamental principle of physics, and is well established by experimental evidence.
POLICY

Policy governed by circumstances; and, with some it is becoming a settled habit that it is second natural to them. But, in other cases, the self-perpetuating and religious inference to them, and, in generosities, is an assurance of the same.

What all the doing and the saying in the bosom of a man of integrity?

But, in simple, it is not difficult for persons of corresponding and, when the former is discovered, what other

If simple, then the opposite is, what other

And what shall be the manner of the sentence, for the sake of the

the sentence, for the sake of the

In the bosom of a man of integrity? is, in a most-flourishing con

of the sentence, for the sake of the

the sentence, for the sake of the

For, when he spoke of God's will in the bosom of a man of integrity, as a

the sentence, for the sake of the

the sentence, for the sake of the

And what shall be the manner of the sentence, for the sake of the

In the bosom of a man of integrity? is, in a most-flourishing con

of the sentence, for the sake of the

the sentence, for the sake of the

For, when he spoke of God's will in the bosom of a man of integrity, as a

the sentence, for the sake of the

the sentence, for the sake of the

And what shall be the manner of the sentence, for the sake of the

In the bosom of a man of integrity? is, in a most-flourishing con

of the sentence, for the sake of the

the sentence, for the sake of the

For, when he spoke of God's will in the bosom of a man of integrity, as a
The ACHING HEART

By Frances Brown.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

I was on my way to New York—

Yes, to New York—

Yes, to New York—

I was on my way to New York—

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

As we neared the city,

I began to feel a pain

Within my heart.

Within my heart.

Within my heart.
RELIGIOUS TELESCOPE, JULY 14, 1869.

The man who can, by way of a contribution to this article, that, in the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose work has been so largely benefi cial to the Church, that the result of a certain vote is a matter of great interest to all who are connected with it. The question is: "Where shall we locate our Theological Seminary?"

Crowned heads and diplomas have been the order of the day, but it is more than probable that in the near future we shall hear of the work of the Church being carried on by the people themselves. The Church has always been a place for the expression of human aspirations, and it is only when these aspirations are realized that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission. Furthermore, the Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The great question pressed upon us this week is: "How can we most effectually bear upon the minds and hearts of the people the importance of the Church?" The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

May we not safely venture the prediction that in less than a score of years, the Church will have been established in the hearts of all men? We are now in the process of establishing the Church as a necessity in the world. It is by its power that the Church will be able to accomplish its mission. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

EDUCATION OF OUR COLLEGE.

As we look to the future and predict the results of our educational efforts, we may perhaps feel a certain anxiety as to our ability to render the application of the educational system to the practical needs of the present day. The educational system is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.

The Church is, after all, a means of salvation, and it is only when we understand its true significance that we can truly say that we understand the Church. The Church is not only a place for the expression of human aspirations, but it is also a place for the expression of human needs. The Church is a place where human beings can find help and comfort in their struggles with life, and it is only when these needs are met that we can truly say that the Church has fulfilled its mission.
RELIGIOUS TELESCOPE, JULY 14, 1869.

I. Spenser, and with touching pathos representation, and that "God always grants his sweetest grace to those who need it most." The worn-out, with the absence of natural sight there is still a yearning for refreshment. All means had wept until the tears of the dried-up wells became as tears of blood. The thirst could not be slaked, but the hope could not die. The weary and the thirsty would receive the common civilities of so-called "Christianity."...

Children's Corner.

A reader of ours says that a little boy and his three sisters in a small village were most interested in the recent weather. The boy was listening to the talk of the two older sisters, who were discussing the weather forecasts. He asked his sisters why the weather was so strange, and what was causing it. His sisters explained that the weather was affected by the Earth's rotation and the positions of the sun and moon, as well as by the Earth's tilted axis. They also mentioned that the weather can be affected by human activities such as deforestation and pollution.

The little boy was fascinated by the explanation and asked how he could help to make the world a better place. His sisters suggested that he could contribute by being kind and doing good deeds, and by being mindful of the environment. They added that he could also become a scientist and study the weather and the Earth's processes to better understand them.

The little boy thanked his sisters and promised to do his best to follow their advice. He then asked them if there was anything else he could do to help. His sisters thought for a moment and then said that he could help to spread the knowledge about the Earth's processes and the importance of taking care of the environment. They suggested that he could write stories, articles, and poems about the Earth and its weather, and that he could also talk about it at school and in his community.

The little boy was excited by the idea and said that he would start doing that right away. He promised to keep his sisters updated on his progress and to share his stories with them. His sisters were proud of him and encouraged him to continue his efforts.

The Beautiful Sounds in Heaven.

Long ago, in a far-off land, there lived a wise old man who was known for his knowledge of nature and the Earth. He often went on long journeys to discover new things and to learn more about the world. One day, he was walking through a forest when he came across a beautiful flower. He stopped to admire it and noticed that it had a sweet fragrance that filled the air.

The old man was fascinated by the flower and decided to follow it. He tracked the scent through the woods and eventually came to a clearing where he saw a group of animals gathering around a small pond. The old man approached them and asked what they were doing. They explained that they had gathered there to drink water and to bathe.

The old man was impressed by the animals' kindness and asked if they had made the pond themselves. They replied that they had not, but that they had helped to keep it clean and to keep the water pure. The old man was touched by their selflessness and decided to teach them a lesson.

He spoke to them about the importance of taking care of the Earth and its resources and about the need for all living things to work together for the common good. The animals were impressed by his words and promised to always remember them.

The old man then thanked them and continued on his journey, filled with joy at having discovered such a beautiful and peaceful place. He knew that he would always remember the lessons he had learned there and that he would always strive to be kind and to take care of the Earth.
How to Make a Gold-Chisel.

There are two types of gold-chisels that are generally used. The first one is a tool that they have but little use for. The second type, a tool that they have but little use for, is used for cutting rivets, hails, and pieces of hoop-wood, of wood axle-trees, and castor-oil for the rearing of the common barn-yard fowl. The old hen will soon beget a rooster. This is better than more, for the rooster will drive away the hawks.

The people know the Bible Book, News, Manilla, Tea, and Wrapping Papers.
the residence of lapiz lazuli, a new mineral, in the vicinity of the Buttes, near the town of Denver, Colorado, has been discovered by Dr. W. T. McGee, of that city, and is now being investigated by the United States Geological Survey. The lapiz lazuli is of a deep blue color, and is said to be of a superior quality to that which is imported from Persia. It is expected that this discovery will stimulate further exploration of the region, and may result in the discovery of other valuable minerals. The lapiz lazuli is already being used in jewelry and decorative work, and is expected to become a valuable addition to the mineral wealth of the United States.

The London Daily News reports that the British government has decided to withdraw troops from the United Kingdom. The decision, which is in response to pressures from the United States, is expected to have a significant impact on the region. The withdrawal of troops is part of a broader strategy to reduce military spending and focus on other priorities. The government has stated that it will continue to maintain a strong defense, but that it will no longer commit military forces to the United Kingdom.

The London Daily News also reports that the British government has decided to cut tax rates. The decision is part of a broader economic strategy to stimulate growth and encourage investment. The government has stated that it will reduce tax rates on a wide range of goods and services, including income, property, and corporation taxes. The government has stated that it will use the revenue generated to fund public services and infrastructure projects.

The London Daily News reports that the British government has decided to increase spending on education. The decision is part of a broader strategy to improve the quality of education and prepare students for the future. The government has stated that it will increase spending on schools, colleges, and universities, and that it will also invest in teacher training and development. The government has stated that it will use the revenue generated to fund these initiatives.

The London Daily News reports that the British government has decided to cut spending on social programs. The decision is part of a broader strategy to reduce government spending and improve the overall fiscal health of the country. The government has stated that it will reduce spending on a wide range of social programs, including health care, housing, and welfare. The government has stated that it will use the revenue generated to fund other priorities.