A BEAUTIFUL PASSAGE.

A Western traveler, passing through the Rocky Mountains, has come to the spot where a mountain stream watered a small sand plain. The sunlight was glistening on the mountain peaks, and the wind was blowing up from the plain. The traveler turned to look at the surrounding country, and saw a beautiful scene of mountains, rivers, and forests. He felt a deep sense of awe and wonder, and exclaimed, "This is a beautiful place!"

The traveler continued his journey, and after a few miles came to a place where a small river flowed through a valley. The river was clear and sparkling, and the valley was filled with the sound of birds singing. The traveler looked up at the sky, and saw a beautiful rainbow arcing through the clouds. He felt a deep sense of joy and peace, and exclaimed, "This is a beautiful place!"

The traveler continued his journey, and after a few miles came to a place where a tall mountain towered above him. The mountain was covered with snow, and the sunlight was reflecting off the peaks. The traveler looked up at the mountain, and saw a beautiful sunset glowing on the horizon. He felt a deep sense of awe and wonder, and exclaimed, "This is a beautiful place!"

The traveler continued his journey, and after a few miles came to a place where a small valley was surrounded by trees. The valley was filled with the sound of birds singing, and the trees were covered with the scent of fresh leaves. The traveler looked up at the trees, and saw a beautiful moon hanging in the sky. He felt a deep sense of peace and serenity, and exclaimed, "This is a beautiful place!

The traveler continued his journey, and after a few miles came to a place where a small town was nestled among the trees. The town was filled with the sound of children playing, and the buildings were decorated with flowers. The traveler looked up at the flowers, and saw a beautiful picture of nature. He felt a deep sense of appreciation and gratitude, and exclaimed, "This is a beautiful place!

The traveler continued his journey, and after a few miles came to a place where a small church stood on a hilltop. The church was surrounded by trees, and the sunlight was shining through the leaves. The traveler looked up at the church, and saw a beautiful cross on the tower. He felt a deep sense of faith and devotion, and exclaimed, "This is a beautiful place!

IMMIGRATION AND SYNODICAL WORK

The United States has the promise of an immense immigration in the coming quarter, and those who are engaged in this work this year is likely to far exceed that of any previous years. This immigration is due to the fact that the whole portion of whom are Roman Catholics. The Catholic Church in California by the gold excitement, has poured into that state in a large number and the strain of immigration is rapidly increasing. They are in their number, this year, considerably increased and, with some, have found their native land.

But the Asiatic emigration to the Pacific coast, in the present trim, is a subject of serious importance and importance that the tide of immigration should be checked by the most energetic measures.

The population of China is one hundred million, which is about one third of that of the United States. It is strange, then, if, in a few years, the Chinese emigrants to America should be nearly as large as one million. At least it is strange, then, if, in a few years, the Chinese emigration to America should be nearly as large as one million. This is a matter of great importance to the United States.

In many towns the vote was almost sure to be given to carry the question of secular or sectarian education. The demands for the schools are now free. Priests are rare in the schools, and some books introduce, and Protestant theology taught by any who have a better understanding of the principles of the church, and the schools are not otherwise

A Great Michigan Convention. — The presiding elder of the district, Rev. M. Cushing, of our committee, has been induced to give the following abbreviated report of the Michigan Convention, held at Calumet, November 30th, and adjourned on December 1st:—

The convention opened on the 29th instant with religious exercises, conducted by the Rev. J. O. Tooley, of Sault Ste. Marie; and a united prayer was offered for the state and for the church. The pastor presented his report, in which he said that the church in Calumet had increased about one per cent. since last year, and that the pastor had been called to the charge of the church. The Rev. J. O. Tooley was also present, and read a paper on the subject of "TheFuture of the World," in which he said that the future of the world was in the hands of the people, and that they must be prepared to meet the great events that were to come. The Rev. J. O. Tooley was also present, and read a paper on the subject of "The Future of the World," in which he said that the future of the world was in the hands of the people, and that they must be prepared to meet the great events that were to come.
